Chronic wounds are a growing healthcare problem with unrealized risks. Timely detection and treatment of any wound can help prevent severe complications.

The Facts

The Risks

An unhealed wound on the foot or leg can lead to infection and severe complications such as amputation.

The rate of amputations has increased during COVID-19.

During COVID-19, an up to 50% increase in amputations was observed when comparing equal time frames in 2020 vs. 2019.
